Crime Exposed. Barrier models as an innovative tool against criminal phenomena

Tracking down perpetrators of criminal acts is often searching for a needle in a haystack for police forces. However, there is an innovative method that helps to approach criminal phenomena as efficiently as possible: the barrier model. This book shows how the police, together with public and private partners, can set up effective barriers to maximally disrupt the criminal's strategy. The authors do this using insights from situational prevention theory and a range of practical examples whose effects have been scientifically demonstrated (evidence-based policing).

The barrier model was put on point in the Netherlands, within the Centre for Crime Prevention and Safety (the CCV). Lienke Hutten, Dominique Rademaker and Joeri Vig describe the methodology used. Afterwards, Tom Broekaert (DGJ) and an expert team from the federal police explain why the police are a valuable partner in the development, implementation, follow-up and evaluation of barrier models. They illustrate their argument with case studies on identity fraud and transit migration with "small boats". Annemie De Boye (ARIEC Limburg) discusses how barrier models can be used to tackle human trafficking. In doing so, she draws on practical examples and lessons learned from the European project CONFINE. In turn, Ibrahim Bulut (ALLSEC CON Security Consultancy) and Wesley De Smet (Museum voor Schone Kunsten Gent) apply the barrier model to art crime. Finally, Jelle Janssens (Ghent University) bridges the gap with recent scientific research on barrier models. He calls for a cautious and conscious application of this useful tool.

Not surprisingly, the barrier model was included in the Framework Memorandum on Integral Security and the National Security Plan 2022- 2025. This book is an important first step towards putting the model into general practice.

PreBes - Welfare at Work/Member

In 1946, the National Association of Heads of Service for Safety and Hygiene of Belgium (VDVHB and ACSHB) was founded. 1982, the Dutch-speaking wing VDVHB and French-speaking wing ECSHB split. At the celebration of its 50th anniversary, in 1996, VDVHB became a "Royal Association". Following the publication of the "Welfare Act" (RD 4/8/96) and its implementing decrees (RD 27/3/98), the name VDVHB was changed to Prebes: Royal Flemish Association for Prevention and Protection. This was ratified at the General Meeting of Members on 26 October 1998.

● MANAGEMENT AND LEADERSHIP SKILLS

A leader's job is to take his people from where they are to where they have not been.

leadership:

- within my position as Prevention Advisor/Safety & Security Manager at IKEA, I was responsible for the external security service consisting of a team of 12 people;
- responsible for well-being at work for a group of 450 employees (IKEA Distribution Benelux S.A.);
- support coaching of colleagues, trainees, customers et cetera in the field of safety and security, and by means of 'management by example' and sector-specific training;
- Project leadership for diverse projects (cultural sector, critical infrastructures, industry et cetera), with final responsibility for both budget and delivery of the whole;
- extensive experience in project and team management (business development to setting up and closing major projects within various industries);
- gained management skills (training module 'building security' within the specialisation module 'prevention adviser level II' and further developed by following specific management training courses (Junior & Middle Management Development) as well as internal management training courses (MBTI, Create the Future - internal training IKEA for potential and emerging industry leaders - et cetera);

organisational skills:

- responsible party committee IKEA Distribution BeNeLux S.A. (organisation of 3 annual company parties);
- responsible for organising workshops, conferences, seminars, etc;
- specific experience in logistics and roll-out of specific projects within the cultural sector;
- co-founder think tank FARO vzw (guiding the heritage sector on calamities, risk management, etc.);
- Member of the Board of Directors ASIS BeNeLux - function vice treasurer;
- Planning Committee Member IMCC (International Museum Construction Congress);
- Member of the board of alumni association Continéo (Hasselt University - direction Applied Economics);
- Member Blue Shield Belgium

Most of my experience has been gained both during my studies and in my various careers. This through giving seminars, specific training courses, conferences, management summaries within different projects....

● HOBBIES AND INTERESTS

Hobbies

- reading- professional literature, books related to my areas of work (risk management as well as museum subjects);
- hiking
- cinema visits

● COMMUNICATION AND PERSONAL SKILLS

When you talk, you often repeat what you already know. When you listen, you often learn something new.

The following is an overview of both my communication and personal skills:

- team player;
- through my work experience(s) abroad (UK, BeNeLux, France et cetera), I have developed the ability to adapt quickly to any multicultural environment;
- I acquired good communication skills, both oral and written, in my position as prevention adviser (secretary of the Committee for Prevention and Protection, trade union consultation, internal and external stakeholders), and further developed in the position of Market Development Representative (consultation with internal & external stakeholders mainly in English, French, Dutch and German), as well as in my current position (government services, cultural sector, etc.);
- excellent presentation technique (formatting presentations) and conveying a clear message (developed by giving specific training courses within the cultural sector - work-related, but also working outside of this as a teacher for external training centres such as there are Syntra, Campus Vesta, Library School et cetera);
- very good written communication skills, both in Dutch and in English (due to my work experience in the field and in my current position, where I often have to consult with non-Dutch speakers - French, German, English, Turkish, etc.);
- experience in providing clear and crisp summaries (management summaries) (partly developed through many experiences within auditing various industries as well as cultural institutions at home and abroad);
- experience in writing articles for specialised journals (Heemkunde Vlaanderen - cultural sector - in connection with security developments in the museum sector) as well as preparing specifications, audit reports, summaries, delivery documents, etc;
- Guest speaker at several (inter)national conferences including:

1. Heritage Istanbul - 2018
2. ASIS Europe Rotterdam - 2019
3. ARCA - Association for Research into Crimes against Art
4. FARO

Both in my current and previous jobs, I have acquired and further developed very good communication skills towards both internal (colleagues, management, peers, etc.) and external stakeholders (trade unions, authorities, clients, architects, etc.). Consultation with trade unions, architects, government services, etc. is not foreign to me and I have gained the necessary experience in these areas.

I would describe myself as communicative, because I have a good command of several languages as well as a smooth pen to write clear texts. In addition, I know how to apply this in the right way; informally with colleagues, formally with customers. If I have questions, I ask them directly and I can express myself well.

● WORK-RELATED SKILLS

Knowledge can be multiplied by sharing it.

- knowledge regarding sprinkler techniques (responsible within IKEA for the entire ESFR sprinkler installation);
- Knowledge of fire standards (NFPA, FM, UL, LPCB, VdS, etc.);
- Familiar with installation requirements for CPVC sprinkler systems;
- knowledge regarding building management, CCTV, intrusion and fire systems (been responsible within IKEA for critical points within the infrastructure);
- Business development skills, especially looking for new developments and markets;
- Drawing up specifications and writing process reports in relation to public contracts (selection and award advice);

- very good mastery of safety and security processes (within my position as Security Consultant, I was responsible for the implementation and performance of high-quality security audits within various industries;
- Knowledge and certification of ISO31000 risk management applications and standards;
- course Diploma in Predictive Profiling Theory 2017 XI;
- Thorough knowledge security-related training concerning both organisational and technical security measures (both within the museum sector and other industries).

● OTHER SKILLS

Additional other skills
